

Information Governance Tools: Vector for Content

Organizations find themselves needing to process or migrate information for a multitude of reasons: policy changes, system updates, mergers and divestitures, to name a few. Vector helps clients move and update large amounts of data that involve complex metadata from a corporate enterprise to a repository.

Now you can brave moving day without borrowing your friend's truck!

VECTOR FEATURES:

Process large collections of content

Provides complete auditing and reconciliation for peace of mind

Batch and command types for performing multiple processing tasks

Can be scheduled to run unattended in the background

Supports transformation of data in place or during a migration

Performance tuning and workload distribution for fast migrations

Works with several leading content repositories

Support for migrating email archives from IBM Commonstore and

VECTOR BENEFITS:

- Framework of tools for easy creation of customized command pipelines to perform complex tasks with little or no programming
- Utilizes FileNet APIs to maintain supportability with IBM
- Supports selective migration and data cleanup during upgrades
- Configurable tracing levels, from error to debug
- Horizontally and vertically scalable